Chorus Plans 'Going Away' Party Monday

The regular meeting of the SPEBSQSA, Monday, January 24, will be held at the Harry Lewis Farm in Pleasant township in the form of a going away party for Harry Lewis, Jr., who is leaving to enter service in the United States Army.

Three quartets from Corry will attend the meeting as guests in honor of the occasion.

It has been announced that the Warren chapter will give a concert in Kane during February. Attempts are being made to form a chapter of the society in Kane. A ladies' night will also be held during February.

Also announced is the chapter's participation in Warren's observance of National Music Week on Tuesday, May 3rd, when the chorus will present several numbers at Beatty Junior High School in conjunction with school music groups.

Elmer D. James is chairman of the activities committee this month.

Youngsville Boy's Body Is En Route

Mrs. Clara Gruttaria, Sixth street, Youngsville, has been advised by the regional distribution center at Columbus, O., that the body of her husband, Pvt. Anthony Gruttaria, is enroute home from the Pacific area for reinterment in this country.

Pvt. Gruttaria, formerly of Clarendon, was killed in action on May 11, 1945, while serving with the United States Marine Corps on Okinawa.

According to an army dispatch received by the Times-Mirror, he is one of more than 2,000 Americans who have been returned aboard the Army Transport Sergeant Jack J. Pendleton from temporary military cemeteries on Okinawa, Iwo Jima, Tinian, Guam and Saipan.

Upon arrival here, the casket will be removed to the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home for services. Reinterment will be made in St. Joseph's cemetery. The time of arrival and arrangements for services will be announced later.

5 doctors prove this plan breaks the laxative habit

If you take laxatives regularly—here's how you can stop!

Because 5 New York doctors now have proved you may break the laxative habit. And establish your natural powers of regularity. Eighty-three per cent of the cases tested did it. So can you.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, Every night for one week take 2 Carter's Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every 2 nights. Then—nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; eat a definite time for regularity.

Five New York doctors proved this plan can break the laxative habit.

Low can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's Pills "unblock" the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers.

Break the laxative habit... with Carter's Pills... and be regular naturally.

When worry, overeating, overwork make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's Pills temporarily. And never get the laxative habit. Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore for $24.95. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

THE "MIDDLE CLASS" IS DEFINED

Since Nov. 2 quite a lot of people have said that they voted for Mr. Truman because they knew just where he stood on every issue. The President's forthrightness didn't end with his victory, either. For now he has told the people where he stands on the subject of the middle class.

We're obliged for the information, says an NEA editorial writer, because it has always been hard to recognize the dividing lines in our classless society. We've heard a lot about the common man from Henry Wallace. But who is he? How many of him are there? Where do they live and work? How much money do they make? We've never found out.

We've had the same difficulty with the same questions about the middle class. This term, unlike the term common man, is not largely one man's property. What it means depends on who uses it.

We've heard about "the great middle class" when the speaker obviously meant that it was the slightly conservative back bone of the nation and of the private enterprise system. We've heard others use the term when they were clearly thinking of the middle class as a mass of statistical anonymity.

Mr. Truman hasn't answered all the questions about this segment of our society. But at least he has put it in its economic place. For where would the middle class belong except in the middle income tax bracket? Thanks to the President, we now know that the middle bracket includes those who make from $6,000 to $25,000 or $30,000 a year.

We would have guessed that the middle class income began at a slightly lower figure. But that is because we are still inclined to think in terms of the not-too-distant past days when $6,000 was quite a respectable annual income. In those days, you had quite a bit of that six thousand left even after the butcher, the grocer and the Collector of Internal Revenue had got through with you. Why, you could even buy a pretty good house for $6,000.

But now we know better. We also know, however incredible it may seem, that in this happy income bracket there is still some skimmable cream which the tax man will go to work on, if Mr. Truman has his way.

Since we know this much, we may assume that below the 6000 figure lies Henry Wallace's realm of the common man. Perhaps the $5900-a-year man can lay claim to membership in the petite bourgeoisie, but the rest seem definitely proletarian.

Whether the heights above $25,000 or $30,000 are occupied chiefly by "gluttons of special privilege" is another matter. At least they seem to be down to financial skim milk, for the proposed tax boost passes them by. And the President declined to second the suggestion, once made by Mr. Roosevelt, that all net incomes be limited to $25,000 a year.

Mr. Truman almost had to pass that one, if only out of gratitude. For on the same day that he was putting the right class in the right bracket, the Senate was voting him a $75,000-a-year raise—with two-thirds of it tax exempt!

TEAMWORK OUTWITS PRANKSTERS

Citizens generally will be relieved and gratified to learn that the culprits responsible for setting out dynamite that shook the borough last Saturday and Sunday mornings have been apprehended and the prospects are that they will be sent away to some nice "quiet" place where they will have plenty of time to think up some less annoying and dangerous pranks to pull after they have time to contemplate on the error of their ways.

Speedy solution of the case is a credit to the law enforcement agencies of the borough, county and state. The borough police, with the sheriff's department and the state police, along with the heads of those departments, have been working unceasingly on the mystery since the first bombing Saturday morning. We join in congratulating all officials who had any part in the investigation. It was a fine job, and with such a combination of enforcement officers working together the apprehension of the pranksters was a foregone conclusion.

TYPICALLY AMERICAN PRESIDENT

A pre-inaugural visit with Harry S. Truman's hometown friends and the World War I "boys of Battery D" in Kansas City, described today in Collier's by Frank Gervasi, reveals:

They regard him as the nation's most typically American President since Lincoln.

Swear to his integrity in personal and political life. Believe that he can more than match Stalin in statecraft and that he sincerely hopes to be the President for Peace.

Confess that while they bet on him they feared he would lose last November's election.

All have been invited to attend his inaugural reception in Washington, January 20.

Just How Potent Is the Power of Suggestion?

Here And There

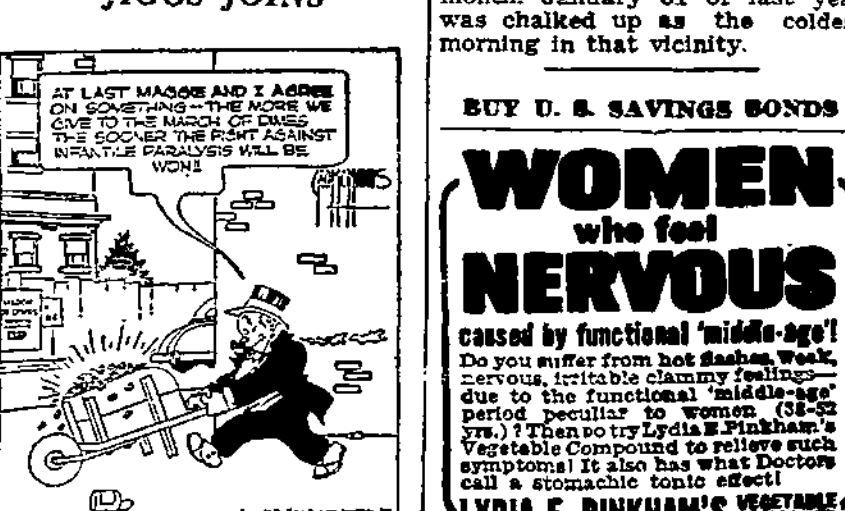

The Pennsylvania Railroad, which operates an extensive freight service over the Oil City-Olean division, and when occasional demands, detours passenger service over line, is building 15 miles more of new track in the Corydon area, in addition to having recently completed considerable new mileage south of that village. In event of favorable weather, we understand, work will continue forging ahead in the Quaker Bridge section. Some twenty men, mostly welders and repairmen, are hauled on local Pennsylvania Railroad property and work daily with the Corydon section crew. Incidentally, this information brings to light some interesting historical facts concerning the road. In the year 1881, a man named Warren Loss, from Rochester, state of New York, was in charge of the building of the Pennsylvania railroad from Warren through Corydon. In 1882, it was completed on through to Salamanca, N. Y. Warren Loss, at the time maintained an office that stood close by the Corydon Hotel building. Across the street stood a blacksmithing shop owned and operated by the late George Lundy Tome. Due to the rush of business in the village at the time the shop employed six men. According to record the Pennsylvania railroad paid all wages in gold—using no other currency at the time. It was during the building of the railroad through Corydon, that the late Charles Hamilton Clawson, came to Corydon and started a general mercantile business. Mr. Clawson, over a long period of time continued on locally as a very successful merchant.

JIGGS JOINS

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

1929

The local post of United Spanish-American War Veterans is to be named after Lieutenant Lewis M. Clark, who acted as first lieutenant of the guard from this city in Porto Rico with distinguished honor. . . . From faraway Oslo, Norway, comes a letter to the Pickett Hardware, seeking suggestions for remodeling and rearranging a hardware store. Pictures of the local establishment in Hardware Dealers' Magazine, prompted the Norway firm to write for help. (Nowadays it's the Marshall plan—then it was the Pickett plan.) . . . Weather in California is "not so hot," residents of that state reluctantly admit. There was no damage to crops, though temperatures in the central part of the state were below freezing. . . . There were sixteen bidders for the general contract for the construction of the proposed new Beatty school building, it was found at the meeting of the school board. Bids for the heating, plumbing, and wiring were also considered, but no decisions were made.

1939

Nearly 700 fans watched the game between the Warren Penns and Pittsburgh Pirates, an exciting battle which saw-sawed from one team to another for a score of 29-27 in favor of the Pirates. . . . Tuff fans, who have watched the record of Man O' War, will be relieved to hear that his owner turned down an offer of a million dollars from Louis B. Mayer of Hollywood. Samuel D. Riddle would not sell, stating that he had provided a trust fund for the famous horse, so he can live in his present regal state and makes provision for his burial in the same plot with his sire and dam. . . . The Sons of the American Legion held their regular meeting at the Legion Home when newly-elected officers were installed. They are Captain, Edwin Anderson; first lieutenant, Allen Johnson; second, James Munksgard; adjutant, Mones Hawley; chaplain, Neal Johnson; finance officer, Jack D'Angelo; historian, William Sweeney; and sergeant-at-arms, Ross Morell.

Coin Collectors Distributed In March of Dimes Campaign

A record number of March of Dimes coin collectors was distributed by Zonta Club members Tuesday for use on store counters and in other public places in conjunction with the annual fund-raising drive of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

This year's coin collector is one of the most attractive designed to date and will provide an unusually effective counter display. It bears the appeal, "You May Save result of the record-breaking epidemics which occurred last summer in many communities.

The Zontians, local sponsors of the drive, urge the people of Warren and surrounding county communities to make as many contributions as they can afford when they are shopping and run across one of the little coin containers.

No one misses an occasional coin but it may mean much to the thousands of children in all parts of the country who look to local chapters to give them a fighting chance for and an opportunity to play again like other boys and girls.

THE NEW FUTURAMICS

FUTURAMIC—the most glamorous word in motor cars now applies to two great lines of Oldsmobiles. Not only the newly styled Futuramic "98"—but also a brand new Futuramic "76" with a new '49 Fisher Body that's lower, wider and offers greater visibility. And this year, Oldsmobile has struck a new balance of power with two great engines for these Futuramic cars. The new "Big Six" Engine in the "76" is more powerful than ever. And the new "98" is powered by the revolutionary "Rocket" Engine. It's a high-compression, valve-in-head eight—an engineering marvel that steps up horsepower to 135, yet actually cuts down on gas costs. Words can't describe it. You've got to drive it yourself for Oldsmobile's "NEW THRILL!"

Did You Ever See a Cold Snap Scudding?

This remarkable picture shows a cold front chasing a warm front out of the skies. It was snapped by Indianapolis Times photographer William Oates as the cold snap moved into the city from the West. Ten thousand feet high, the mighty mass of cold air is sweeping fluffy alto cumulus clouds eastward. Moving on a long diagonal front extending to Columbus, Ohio, it brought good news to the area. In its wake, temperatures dropped and eliminated threat of more rain and further floods.

Achille, 2½-year-old pride of the Basle, Switzerland, zoo, has taken up with spoons and napkins and other civilized ways. The young gorilla rates an A in table manners. His keepers fear, however, that Achille won't be quite as mannerly when he becomes a hulking five-footer.

There's a Great Day Coming

Motorists, who don't like to drive in the snow, have a treat in store for them some day soon. Electrically-treated highways, which melt the snow, are being perfected. This is a 500-foot experimental stretch near Detroit, Mich. Although snow covers rest of the highway, the "hot road" remains clear.

Leather Work Is New Classification For Talent Show

Plans for the Woman's Club Talent Show are rapidly taking shape. At this week's meeting of the committee in charge it was decided that the new feature of this year's show would be classification for leather work. A number of Warren people are actively interested in hand tooling and there is considerable interest in this kind of work.

Invitations were mailed on Monday of this week to the adults of Warren county who participated in the first and second talent recognition contests sponsored by the Woman's Club. The schools in the borough and county are now being contacted in an effort to reach all younger artists as well. Already several new names have been added to the list of those who have made inquiries concerning this year's exhibit which is to be held in the Woman's Club auditorium on May 19, 20 and 21st.

Mrs. William H. Wright, chairman, has chosen the following to serve on the general committee for the talent show: Mrs. Gerda Lawrence, compilation and judging of school entries; Mrs. A. C. Flick and Mrs. William Rice, radio publicity; Mrs. Henry Walker, posters and display; Mrs. Harold Blair and Mrs. S. M. McClure, borough and county schools; Mrs. John Urbatus, photography; Mrs. Harry Lewis, arrangement of exhibits; Mrs. Henry Walker, hostesses; Mrs. Robert Israel, general publicity.

The committee stresses the point that any non-professional artist in Warren county is invited and urged to submit work for the show. The student entries will be submitted through the schools. Adults may free lance and bring their work to the Woman's Club auditorium on Tuesday, May 17th. Rules, classifications, and further details are being worked out by the committee.

It is an afternoon dress of dark gray brocade with a design of large feathers done in silver thread, and three-quarter length sleeves. Fifteen yards of material were used in its execution. The designer of both Mrs. Truman's and Margaret's gowns is Mrs. Pola, noted New York designer, who is shown at work on the gown. (This is not the only Mrs. Truman will wear, as that is in Washington for final fittings but Mrs. Pola made this duplicate of it so that Acme photographer Bert Brandt could get a picture of what the dress will look like, and here it is.)

Negotiations by a Nationalist peace delegation to surrender Peiping (1) to Communists were reported underway as Red troops stood ready to seize the city into submission. Chinese Nationalists have abandoned Fengpu (2) and withdrawn to the bank along the Yellow River, last natural barrier before Nanking (3). Nationalist army headquarters was moved back to Chushien (4) only 30 miles above the capital. The evacuation of Nanking was speeded up, with the bulk of Chiang Kai-shek's military and government headquarters moving to Canton (4) and Formosa (5).

As the nation of 480,000,000 groped for a way to stop the civil war, foreign diplomats were urged to move from Nanking to Canton on Monday.

(Previously several ministers were reported to have moved some of their personnel from the Communist threatened capital.)

Last week Chang named a committee of three to draft a cease fire order. Shortly afterward Communist leader Mao Tse-tung issued a 12-point ultimatum calling for total surrender of the central government. Mao's terms upset plans in Nanking at that time.

Red Cross Field Worker Talks At Enthusiastic Gathering

Officers members of the executive board and committee chairman held an enthusiastic mid-winter meeting at Red Cross headquarters, Market street Monday night at which time they were addressed by Robert J. Henn, general field representative of the eastern area. A dinner attended by 26 persons preceded the meeting.

The chairman of the Warren County chapter, S. G. Davis, presided and introduced each of the guests present. Each chairman gave a short report on the accomplishments of his or her particular committee and the nature of all the reports indicated that Red Cross Service to the community is functioning, and well able to meet the many demands upon the chapter.

Reports from Mrs. T. L. Armstrong, chairman of the Coordinated Services to Camps and Hospitals; Mrs. Raymond Steber, chairman of Volunteer Special Services; and that from Mrs. Richard Dawson, chairman of "Gray Ladies" all showed these committees to be active and functioning at full speed. John Allen, chairman of the "Water Safety Committee" also reported renewed interest and activity on the part of those interested in life saving and water safety with 11 instructors giving of their time each week in this important phase of Red Cross work.

Warren E. Miller gave a comprehensive report on Junior Red Cross activities. Mrs. E. M. Bell, home work secretary and Miss Irma Eba gave detailed reports of their respective work with interesting summaries of their activities of the past months.

Chairman J. H. Alexander, of the campaign committee, talked of the forthcoming Red Cross campaign and what part the Warren County Chapter would play in the over-all national campaign. He went into considerable detail as to the various phases of the campaign and told of what steps had already been taken to insure the whole-hearted cooperation of all segments of Warren county.

Mr. Henn was then called upon to give the members present a brief refresher course in various activities and services in which the local chapter might be still more proficient.

He summed up his remarks by saying that the Red Cross exists chiefly to be of service to people in trouble. He said that 1947 was one of the worst years from a disaster standpoint of any year in Red Cross history and added that the year 1948 was not far behind.

Complimenting the volunteer workers present, he graphically illustrated how important the volunteer worker is to Red Cross by stating that all Red Cross workers were to be awarded in a parade and march 10 abreast past a reviewing stand it would take but five hours for the paid executives and workers to march by but that it would take seven days, marching 24 hours a day, for the volunteer workers in Red Cross to march past. And, he concluded: "All you have to show is the satisfaction you have done something for humanity. You are selling a service to the public and when people in this community see the Red Cross sign they know that it pays to have this service, if and when needed."

Those present were: S. G. Davis, C. J. Cray, J. H. Alexander, Paul Harrington, W. S. Clark, all officers; Warren E. Miller, R. G. Smith, J. W. A. Luce, Mrs. E. H. Hamilton, Mrs. T. L. Armstrong, Mrs. R. W. Steber, Judge Allan D. Wade, Katherine Bell, Irma Eba, Edith C. Dawson, Howard Lauffenberger, Sgt. J. R. Vaughn, H. L. Benghart, Mrs. M. H. Dear-dorf, Mrs. R. A. White, Mrs. E. H. Ley, Mrs. W. H. Rawson, John E. Allen and Donald E. McComas.

Revision Of Game Laws Is Proposed

Harrisburg, Jan. 18—(AP)—Proposed to amend the game laws to legal hunting today topped a list of sweeping revisions of the state game laws in the senate today.

Sen. C. Arthur Lantz (R-Wre.) introduced measures which would: Permit seizure of the hunting weapons of persons mentally and physically incapacitated.

Require permanent suspension of non-resident hunting licenses when the holders run game out of season, use sportsmen in hunting, or buy or sell illegally killed game.

Resident hunting licenses could be suspended for three instead of two years for such offenses.

Increase from $100 to $200 the fine for illegally killing deer.

Repeal the power of local hunters to set aside antlerless deer seasons once they are established by the game commission.

Change the hunting license period from Sept. through August 31 to Oct. 1 through Sept. 30.

Increase the bonds of issuing agents on hunting licenses.

Establish as lawful the deer those with a branch from the main antler measuring 1½ inches from the crotch to the tip.

In another measure, Sen. Charles Mallory (R-Blair) proposed prolonging hunting licenses for every one 65 years or more at a fixed fee.

Resident hunting licenses would be boosted from $2 to $6.50 and non-resident licenses from $15 to $25 at the end of the current hunting season under a measure introduced by Sen. Fred P. McEwen, Jr. (R-Somerset).

TWO HEAVYWEIGHTS COLLIDE TONIGHT

New York, Jan. 18—(AP)—Two willing heavyweights, Rusty Payne of Pittsburgh, and Curtis Sheppard of Baltimore, collide tonight in the tournament of champions' opening fight card at their new indoor arena—Manhattan Center.

The ten-round bout is a sequel to the knock-down, drag-out affair the two heavies staged Oct. 11 in Pittsburgh. On that occasion Payne, felled in the fifth round, came back to knock out Curtis in the ninth.

This is the first show in midtown New York for the new professional group which is trying to cut in on Mike Jacobs' ring dynasty.

Murder Gets Abound

BY ROBERT SIDNEY BOWEN

Chapter 23

I HUGGED the store door-latch, and twisted the handle, and pushed open the door, and stepped into the street, and looked up at the stars. Nobody opened the door.

Still hugging the store door-latch, I stepped up the street, and looked up at the stars. Life was beginning again for me, but I waited until my watch said quarter of ten.

In front of Goldie's apartment door I stopped, took a deep breath, and then did a take. I pushed the bell button and waited, with every nerve I've got twanging like an off-key violin string. Nobody opened the door.

The ring-chain of keys Maurice Cardou had once owned I had in my hands by then I selected one I thought would do the trick, and opened the apartment door easy as pie, stepped in quickly, and softly closed it. Then I stood there two, three minutes not moving a single thing except my eyes.

And I moved them in all directions at the same time. But I didn't see a single thing save a hundred things that drew a picture of Goldie's in my mind right away. Finally I moved slowly through the foyer and down into the half sunken living room. I was uneasy, and I guess you could call it a little scare.

I felt from the top of my head all the way down to the soles of my shoes that I was not alone in that apartment!

With both myself and my gun ready for anything, I toured Goldie's apartment like nobody's business, but nobody jumped me, or shot at me, or even said, "Boo!"

Back in the living room I holstered my gun, dropped myself comfortably on the sofa, and gave myself up to waiting. Just how long I wasn't sure, but I had a feeling that it wouldn't be too long.

SUDDENLY I heard, or sensed, the swift, sudden, desperate movement. It was like a couple of dozen times in Burma, and China, and in the Philippines. The whisper of death on its way fast. You hear it, or you just sense it.

I didn't twist my head around for a flash look in back of me. Or even start up onto my feet.

I got a handful of his jacket and shirt with my left hand, hoisted him up a foot or so off the floor, and then smashed his pointy-nosed nose with my right, letting go my hold as I did so. I had long ago counted six lumps on my head, so I went through that routine six times. And each time I hit him in a different place. Believe me, he was twice as horny when the seventh time I hoisted him all the way up and flung him back onto the sofa.

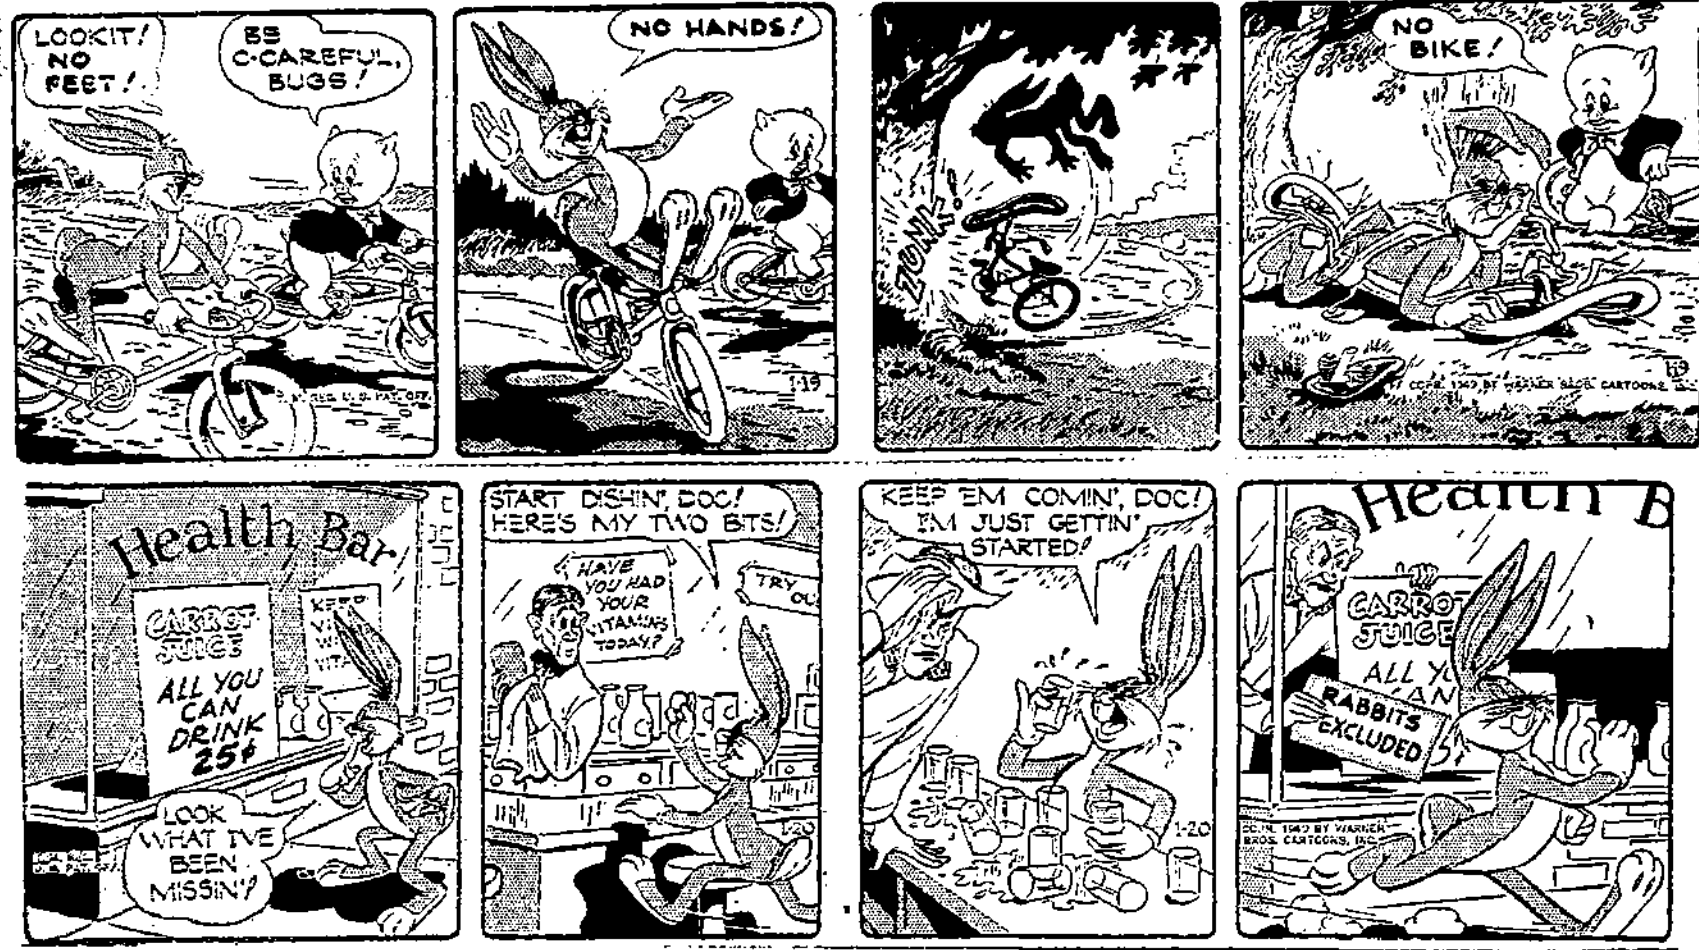

His gun was on the floor at his feet, but I made no move to pick it up, and put it out of harm's way. Instead I took out my own gun, and held it lightly in my hand. When he finally brought his head down, and glared at me out of the one eye that was still open, he just glared. I just grinned.

"How did you get in Parrish?" I finally asked him. "And where were you hiding?"

"I should have shot you, Barnes!"
